Big Dirigible "L-1" Being Tried Out for Acceptance for German
Aerial Navy, Falls to Ground a Burning Wreck.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, Oct. 17.—The newest and largest of the Zeppelin war airships
the "L-1" was destroyed in mid air by an explosion at 10:15 o'clock this morning. All but one of the twenty-seven military men on board, including the entire admiralty trial board, were killed.

The new Zeppelin airship "L-1" exploded in the air near Johanneshal today and was completely wrecked.

About thirty persons were aboard the airship. The party included the entire admiralty trial board headed by Commander Behnisch, conducting the final trial prior to the acceptance of the new craft as part of the new German aerial navy.

The crew was under command of Lieutenant Freyer of the navy and Captain Gluth, one of Count Zeppelin's veteran dirigible pilots.

The airship exploded at 10:15 a. m. this morning while it was over the outskirts of Johanneshal sailing at a height of about 900 feet.

The craft fell on the main highway leading into Johanneshal, its blackened wreck of twisted aluminum framework blocking the road.

Exact Cause Unknown.
The exact cause of the accident is unknown. The dirigible had just left its shed and had traversed barely a quarter of a mile in the direction of Berlin.

Spectators suddenly saw a mighty pillar of fire shoot from the middle of the balloon and the next instant the craft was a mass of flame, plunging to earth burning those aboard beneath its wreckage. The name and exact number of victims, however, could not be attained directly after the accident.

Following so shortly upon the disaster of September 9th last, when a similar craft, just launched for the first time, was destroyed in a hurricane with a loss of fifteen men, the news of today's catastrophe has caused consternation in aeronautical circles, if not throughout the capitol.

The "L-1" was the latest and largest of the craft designed for the German navy. It was about 500 feet long.

Headed for Berlin.
The dirigible balloon, before she left the hangar, was being regularly crewed and a number of officers. She headed for Berlin, a short distance away, in a light wind. About a dozen airmen were circling the aerodrome at the time in aeroplanes.

Everything was apparently in good order. She was gradually getting up speed when suddenly an explosion was heard by those on the ground, evidently in one of the motors in the center gondola. A flash shot out and the next instant the whole ship was afire and plunging downward. Every inch of the canvas covering and the balloons disappeared in a moment.

A Second Explosion.
A second and more violent explosion was then heard, the fire having reached the gasoline tanks filled with about a ton of liquid fuel. Before the echoes of the explosion had died down, the wreck of the most modern of Germany's dirigibles lay a flaming mass on the ground.

The fire departments of all the neighboring suburbs with detachment of the balloon corps, the pioneers and other troops were soon on the spot, but there was nothing left to save. Six inmates of the center gondola had been blown through the sides of the car by the first explosion and their bodies fell a quarter of a mile away from the wreck of the balloon which was still burning. A fourth man was killed when the accident happened.

Only One Survivor.
All the others except two apparently were killed by the explosion of the gasoline tank and were probably dead before the wreckage reached the earth.

Lieutenant Baron von Blum, of the Queen Augusta grenadier guards, who was making the trip as a guest, was the only survivor of the wreck. He was badly injured and his condition is critical. Many of the bodies were so badly burned and mangled as to be unrecognizable.

Wrecked Craft Falls.
The naked aluminum frame work with its long centerpieces, its interlaced ribs and its tapering ends and the gondolas containing the motors beneath, fell rapidly to the ground.

When the skeleton of the immense craft struck the earth the heavy gondolas buried themselves in the ground. I rushed immediately to the scene after ordering out the fire department from the aerodrome.

Coming so shortly after the destruction of the "L-1" in a hurricane in the North Sea on Sept. 9th, when fifteen men were killed, today's disaster has caused a feeling of consternation in Berlin whose public, had within a week been saddened by the loss of many German passengers on board the burned Volturno, and by account of the terrible mining catastrophe in Wales.

Three Army Men Killed.
Not only the German navy, but the army as well, suffered from aviation accidents today. Three army officers belonging to the training corps were killed this morning in aeroplane accidents.

Seventh Zeppelin Wreck.
The Zeppelin airships have been singularly unfortunate ever since their invention by the aged soldier-count. No fewer than seven of them have been destroyed by fire, explosion or wreck. The Zeppelins I, III, and VI, Deutschlands I and II, and now the L-1 and L-2, the first big airships attached to the German navy, have met with disaster in this way.

On the occasion of the last catastrophe on September 9th, the German emperor was said to have wept over the news. He had been in command of the naval maneuvers during the day and the dirigible L-1, pride of the German navy, had been engaged in reconnaissance work. In the evening she was blown away to sea by a violent gale. When she struck the water she broke in half and sank.

Recommends Dirigibles.
Washington, Oct. 17.—Army and navy aviation experts here are convinced that today's accident will not retard development of the dirigible as an instrument of warfare. Brigadier General Scriven, in charge of army dirigibles, said by his recommendation to congress for the acquisition of at least two such war engines.

NEW STATE EVIDENCE UPON EATON MURDER

Type-written Document Believed to be Will of Late Admiral, May be Unearthed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 17.—A hint at evidence in a new revelation given by the state at the continuation of the trial for murder of Mrs. Jenny May Eaton today.

This had to do with a type-written document alleged to have disappeared from the Eaton home after the death of Rear Admiral Eaton. Dorothy Ainsworth, the younger of Mrs. Eaton's two daughters by an earlier marriage was on the stand. District Attorney Barker asked her what she knew of such a paper. The defense objected, claiming the district attorney called upon Mrs. Eaton's attorneys to produce the document. The matter was not pressed, but Mr. Barker said he hoped to introduce the paper later.

Following the admiral's death a search was made for a will alleged to have been made by the admiral after the date borne by the will filed for probate which left his property to his widow and his step daughters.

The testimony of the 6-year-old girl, was a story of a house divided against itself.

SMALL FIRE LOSSES ON STATE PROPERTY

State Insurance Department Reports Satisfactory Financial Condition of Fire Insurance Fund.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—Total losses from fire on state property insured in the state insurance fund were only $50 last year, according to a report of the state insurance department. The fund covers all state property, including the capitol, university, normal and other state schools, and the charitable and penal institutions, and also covers the property of seventeen counties. There were three fires, one in the fund at the beginning of the year, four having come in since.

Financial Situation.
The state property insured is $17,000,261.77, and the fund property is $1,214,459.26, a total of $18,214,721.03. The income of the fund since its establishment in 1903 has been $288,839.21 in premiums plus a transfer from the general fund of $25,137.99, making a total income of $333,977.20. The losses paid on the capitol fire in 1904 were $127,821.53. Other losses paid have been $12,295.95, amounts paid for inspections and rates $571.75, leaving a balance of $154,287.97. Against this there are liabilities for unearned premiums of $30,975.66, and due to the general fund for transfer $78,137.99, which leaves a reserve surplus over all liabilities of $43,184.22.

Periodical Inspections.
The state buys ratings from the Wisconsin Inspection Bureau. A trained mechanical engineer is employed by the commission of insurance at the expense of the fund to make periodical inspections of all property belonging to the state, and to counties insured in the fund, and a look after the prevention of fires upon such property generally, and also to make adjustments of such losses as occur. The expense is charged to the state insurance fund and no use is made of the provision of the law authorizing the commission to require inspections to be made by the state fire marshal, for the reason that this office is maintained by the payments of the insurance companies to which the state does not contribute. Copies of all reports of inspection are furnished to the board or officer in charge of the property, and these co-operate with the commission in their recommendations.

It is expected the stockholders will realize full value of their stock.

GAME WARDENS HAVE LARGE TERRITORY TO SUPERVISE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—Each warden in Wisconsin must supervise approximately 1,000 square miles of territory, according to a compilation made by John A. Spotts, state fish and game warden. In a digest of the game laws, made at the conclusion of the legislative session, and just issued, Mr. Spotts asks for the co-operation of all the people in helping to enforce the laws.

"Contrary to popular opinion," says the warden, "the department has been a source of income to the state. Besides paying all expenses incurred by it, at the end of the year 1912 it had to its credit in the state treasury $69,044.89, which was placed in the general fund, and will pay in part the general expenses of the state. On account, however, of the rapidly increasing population, requiring additional supervision, and the increased cost of the necessary warden, it is barely possible that as large a percentage of net income can be shown at the end of this year."

AMERICANS MURDERED

Feud in Mexican Camp Near Guadalupe Results in Killing Whites—Other Foreigners Threatened.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 17.—General Huerta plans to assemble the foreign diplomats in Mexico City today or tomorrow, according to latest state department advices and make a statement on the present situation. No inkling of Huerta's purpose was contained in the dispatches. His statement will be received here with the keenest interest, though administration officials doubt that it will alter the situation.

Those closest to the administration policy believe dealings with Huerta practically are ended, and the peace measures to compose the situation next will be exerted in other directions. Speculation is a possibility and expense of dealing with the Constitutionalists heads has been revised by the present situation, but brings no definite statement from official quarters.

Consul General Hanna reported today that nearly all refugees had left Monterey and efforts were being made through Rear Admiral Fletcher and Consul Canales at Vera Cruz to have the Norwegian steamer Texas City call at Tampico for passengers.

Two Americans Killed.

Guadalupe, Mexico, Oct. 17.—Two American citizens were killed on Tuesday as the result of a fight at Huastilla, a small town in the state of Jalisco, about 80 miles to the northwest of this city. Twenty-five foreigners there were threatened with extermination.

The dead Americans are: Thomas Barrett, a mine manager, and William Kendall, a mine employee. News of the killing reached this city early today.

Barrett was murdered with an axe by the Mexican who was captured by Kendall and turned over to the rural guards. While the guards were escorting the murderer to Magdalena, they shot him.

A story reached the mining camp that the murderer had been killed by Kendall, whereupon a number of Mexicans set upon Kendall and killed him.

The same night about one hundred Mexicans attacked all the foreigners in camp. The foreigners took refuge in a mine after telephoning to Magdalena for troops. A detachment of 500 federal guards responded and escorted the foreigners to Magdalena where they boarded a train for this city.

Another American Held.

Murresboro, Tenn., Oct. 17.—According to information received here from William H. Alger, American consul at Mazatlan, Mexico, Granville R. Hargis, member of a prominent Murresboro family, is held prisoner in the Mexican city by the Huerta government, accused of being a rebel. The consul asked that money be sent for Hargis's defense, but inasmuch that the latter was dated September 24, the family fearing delay today wired to the American state department asking that action be taken in Hargis's behalf. Hargis served with the First Tennessee regiment in the Philippines.

The registration will be open until October 29, when the drawing of lots to determine selections will be made.

PRESIDENT'S FAMILY BACK FROM CORNISH

Mrs. Wilson and Daughters, Margaret and Eleanor, Quietly Welcomed by President Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 17.—President Wilson arose today while the morning sun was struggling to peep through low hanging clouds and before 7:00 o'clock was on his way to the Union Station to welcome Mrs. Wilson and his daughters, the Misses Margaret and Eleanor who returned from the Wilson summer home in Cornish, N. H. The reunion was the same as would mark that of any family and there was no crowd to observe it.

Mrs. Wilson and the daughters, pictures of health, tripped off the train into the arms of the president. The party was taken quickly through the private waiting room set aside for the chief executives of the nation and to the White House automobile. None but the secret service men and the station officials seemed to be aware of the passage of the distinguished party, so quietly was it effected.

Arrived at the White House President Wilson and his reunited family sat down to a substantial breakfast. Miss Jennie Wilson was the only one absent from the circle. It was said that she had remained in the east to visit with friends for a few days.

SUFFRAGISTS ACTIVE IN JUDICIAL FIGHT STRIKE HALTS WORK ON STATE CAPITOL

Mrs. Medill McCormick Admits That She With Other Leaders Have Been Participants.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—Admission by Mrs. Medill McCormick that she and the other Chicago suffrage leaders interested themselves as individuals in the judicial campaign in the fifth district because they feared for the equality of the law, was a blow to the excitement in political circles in this section today.

Mrs. McCormick's statement was made in speeches at Chilton and Lagoon where she said that the work of the suffragists is not entirely ended yet. The opposition is working night and day. At the next election we will probably have a contest on our hands. We have taken the law to half a dozen lawyers and we know that there is a technical point in the verbiage that may be misconstrued if the judge desires to do so.

There is no use pretending that such things are not done; they are done and we women feel that we could not sit still when a judge was to be chosen who will have as much power over Chicago as over the rest of the state.

RESPIRE FROM EXECUTION GRANTED TO MURDERER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Quincy, Ill., Oct. 17.—Assured that there is no possibility of his postponing the scaffold tomorrow which is the day fixed by the court for his execution, Ray Pfanschmidt, the youthful murderer confined in the Quincy jail today, in unusually good spirits today. The appeal of his case to the higher court acts as a stay of the death sentence and it will probably be six months or more before a final decision is reached. Pfanschmidt's crime was one of the worst of its kind ever committed in Illinois. On September 27, 1911, he murdered his father, mother, sister and young school teacher residing at his home. The next night he burned the house to conceal his crime. He was sentenced to life in prison for the positive ascribed for the quadruple killing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis, confessed to the inquest this afternoon to the murder of his wife here late Wednesday night. He said his wife was "the most virtuous woman" in the world, and that he must have been crazy over her health and business troubles.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis, a wealthy leather manufacturer of Cincinnati who was found with three bullet wounds and his throat cut in a room at a downtown hotel with the body of his slain wife in the room, is recovering and, according to the police, may be booked on a charge of murder.

Ellis, who is at the Bridewell Hospital, was able to leave his cell today and in reply to inquiries regarding his condition replied, "Oh, I am all right. I will tell the whole story of this terrible affair at the inquest. I have nothing else to say at present."

WORKMEN ON NEW MARBLE DOME MUST BELONG TO BRICKLAYERS' UNION, IS THE CONTENTION.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—The black framework of steel, three-fourths covered with marble, of the new capitol dome projects skyward, with not any work being done toward its completion pending the settlement of a labor dispute among laboring unions. The employer is helpless.

The men are not grumbling about more pay or shorter hours. It goes further than these. The principal involved is whether a man who works at the marble trade and uses a trowel should not belong to the bricklayers' union.

Down in Chicago there is being held a meeting of officials of the bricklayers' union and of the American Federation of Labor, representing the marble setters attempting to settle the dispute. Moreover, the employer who desires his contract fulfilled stands by awaiting settlement and visitors to Madison wonder when the great stone dome will ever be completed.

The bricklayers are an independent union not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. They contend that every man who uses the trowel should belong to their union. The marble setters belong to the American Federation of Labor. The question of who shall be supreme on the job, the marble setters or the bricklayers is the crucial point in the dispute.

The situation. One month ago the American Federation of Labor stands back of the marble setters. They called off one man, a hoisting engineer who runs the stationary engine that hoists the brick and marble to place over two hundred feet from the earth. Of course no union men will take the job as engineer and so the work is effectively tied up. If a non-union man should volunteer to do the work, he would be for both believe that the engine should be operated by a union engineer.

Meantime carloads of brick are being received in Madison and piled high in the capitol yard. The settlement of the dispute among the labor unions before the work can progress. The marble is also piled high and the block frame work stands in the cold, with the possibility that no work will be reached by the conference in Chicago in time to render the completion of the dome possible this year.

SULZER IMPEACHED BY OFFICIAL VOTE; NOT DISQUALIFIED

COURT VOTES TO OUST NEW YORK EXECUTIVE BUT IS UNANIMOUS AGAINST DISQUALIFICATION.

GLYNN NOW GOVERNOR

Lieutenant Governor Assumes Office—Sulzer Is Acquitted on Last Four Articles of Impeachment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Albany, Oct. 17.—William Sulzer no longer is governor of the state of New York.

A few minutes before noon today the high court of impeachment, by a vote of 43 to 12, removed him from office. Senator Wendt and Judge Cullen excused themselves from voting.

The proposal to disqualify Sulzer from ever again holding a place of honor or trust in the state was voted down unanimously with the exception that Judge Cullen again did not vote. The governor received the news of his removal in silence at the executive mansion where he has waited all morning to hear the results. He said he might make a statement later.

After the proceedings Mr. Sulzer said he saw only a few personal friends. He sent out word that his promised statement would be ready this evening.

Friends who were with him when he received the news of the verdict said that he appeared to be relieved that the suspense was over. Mr. Sulzer, who has been hysterical at times in the last week, also was said to have brightened perceptibly.

Vote Out Last Articles.

Prior to the vote on his disqualification and removal the last four articles of the impeachment charges, 5, 6, 7 and 8, unanimously were voted out.

Court was in session a little more than an hour. It officially was adjourned a minute after twelve o'clock. Martin H. Glynn, ex-Albany, the acting governor, became governor.

Robert F. Wagner of New York, majority leader of the senate, became lieutenant governor.

No official notice of removal was given Sulzer. A record of the decision of the court was filed with the secretary of state, thus complying with all the legal requirements to remove the governor.

A pale, thin man sat in the executive mansion today waiting impatiently a vote of the high court of impeachment which would strip from him the robes of his office of governor and make him William Sulzer, private citizen.

It was common knowledge that before tonight this fate for him would be announced. That he should be removed from office was decided by an informal vote in the high court of impeachment yesterday, but the vote that would remove him legally was not taken then and the court reconvened this morning to perform that solemn action.

A vote on whether he should be disqualified from ever holding office again in the state also was to be cast.

It informally was voted yesterday that no such penalty should be meted out to him. So this vote, too, was largely a matter of form.

Vote on Four Articles.

Four articles under which the governor was impeached also were to be voted on. Few, however, thought they would be upheld by the court and the result really mattered little other than for the purpose of record. Article 5 charged that the governor dissuaded Frederick J. Cowell from testifying before the Freney committee; article 6 that the governor committed largesse in appropriating campaign funds to his own use; article 7 that he battered his political influence and article 8 that he used his official position to influence the price of stocks in which he was interested.

FORTY ARE ADDED TO NIGHT SCHOOL LIST

Enrollment Rapidly Increasing Each Day—Want More Women to Take Telegraphy.

Since the opening of the night school on Tuesday evening, over forty more registrations have been filed out. This raises the enrollment up to nearly three hundred and fifty students, who will meet twice each week for instruction in perhaps fifteen various lines.

The millinery school under the direction of Miss Pahlow, who is a sister at the Simpson store, had sixteen students at the regular session last evening. This increase over the opening night shows the interest which is being taken in this line of work.

Telegraphy is of greater importance than the average person realizes. Since the consolidation of the Bell Telephone Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, the demand for lady operators has steadily increased. This fact should lead more young women to enter this special course, which will be taught by A. V. Lytle, who is recommended by Mr. Valentine as being a competent man. Unless ten are registered there will be no class.

The salesmanship class, which was spoken of before, will not begin until after the holidays. This class, instructed by Prof. Nystrum of Wisconsin university who will be able to get there but once a week and so consequently there will be only one session each week, following its organization.

No more can enroll in the evening cooking class, under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Caplan. The class is overcrowded now, but planning enough desire to enter to warrant another class, there will one organized to meet on Monday and Wednesday nights.

Public speaking will be held only once each week. Last week it was held on Tuesday, but the members of the class desire to have it convene on Thursday, starting next week.

REVIVED Old-Time Health, Eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had been sick for 10 years with dyspepsia and a lot of complications," wrote an Ark. woman.

"An operation was advised, change of climate was suggested, but no one seemed to know just what was the matter. I was in bed three days in the week and got so thin I weighed only 89 lbs. No food seemed to agree with me.

"I told my husband I was going to try some kind of predigestion food to see if I could keep from this feeling of continued hunger.

"Grape-Nuts and cream was the food I got and nothing has seemed to satisfy me like it. I never feel hungry, but have a natural appetite. Have had no nervous spells since I began this food, and have taken no medicine.

"I have gained so much strength that I now do all my housework and feel well and strong. My weight has increased 8 lbs. in 8 weeks and I shall always eat Grape-Nuts as it is far pleasanter than taking medicine.

LIFE NEED NOT BE NARROW.

Our life is just as narrow as we let it be. If we live in a lonely country place miles from a railway, we can study the plants and animals about us until we come to understand something of the secrets of the universe. If our lot is in a great city, we have opportunities of studying human nature—seeing with our own eyes the development of characters as strange as ever novelist put into his books. Multitudes of men walked the same streets with Dickens without seeing a hundredth part of what he saw. It is the power to see, and not the object to be seen, that we lack, and this power may be, to a certain extent, cultivated by practice.—Exchange.

ORGANIZE THURSDAY INTO STATE ORDER

Kings' Daughters Hold Successful Convention at Baptist Church Yesterday—Elected State Officers.

The first convention of the nineteen Wisconsin circles of the Kings' Daughters order, met yesterday in the parlors of the Baptist church, and took the first steps in organizing the society into a Wisconsin state order. Although a convention was held two years ago at Milton, no work of importance was taken up until yesterday.

Delegates from Milton, Milton Junction and Janesville, were in attendance yesterday, the other sixteen chapters deciding not to send delegates until the order was better organized.

Mrs. F. C. Dunn, state vice president, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Alice Carr, state president, was also present. At the next election in 1914 was held yesterday. Both were re-elected for another year. Mrs. Elizabeth D. Catchpole was elected as recording and corresponding state secretary, while Mrs. Alice Burck was chosen as treasurer. Both of these ladies are members of the local order.

Following the election, Mrs. W. G. Bennett, Illinois state president of the King's Daughters, gave an interesting address on "The Object of the Work of the King's Daughters." A solo was rendered by Mrs. Binneweis of this city.

Mrs. Carr was elected a member of the national Council of the International Order. Besides the state officers, who were chosen to attend the international convention next May in Detroit, there will later be chosen one from each ten members, of any local chapter as their delegates.

The local circle yesterday adopted a constitution and it was accepted by all those present. They invite others to join their order, and to aid in the volunteer work of the church and city.

WAS MAKING ESCAPE FROM LOCAL ASYLUM

Oscar Jaich Missed at County Hospital Sometime Tuesday Afternoon—Says Superintendent.

According to Superintendent D. M. Barlass of the Rock County Insane Asylum, Oscar Jaich, who was killed by the St. Paul passenger train two miles west of the city, Tuesday night, had escaped from custody at the Rock County Hospital, where he had been sent some time ago, on Tuesday morning and was making his escape when he was killed.

Jaich had not been missed until some time in the afternoon, and had walked to the city and started out the Mineral Point tracks to make good his escape. This fact verifies the idea that the boy was overcome by a fit and fell across the track. As the men at the stone crusher saw Jaich walking out the track early in the afternoon, it is evident that he had lain there for some time before the train struck him.

MAY RE-TEST HERD FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Board of Trustees of County Farm Hopes More Favorable Results From Second Inspection.

Re-testing of the herd of cattle at the county farm, thirty-nine of which are reported as afflicted with bovine tuberculosis, will probably be undertaken at the direction of the Board of Trustees, as its members and Superintendent D. M. Barlass do not feel entirely confident that the first test of the herd was without possibility of error. Until this test is completed the milk from the herd will be sterilized before being used. The Assistant State Veterinarian was expected to arrive here today for a conference with the trustees and superintendent. Not less than six days' time is required to make the tuberculin test. During the first test six of the animals reacted but slightly and the rest to a more marked degree.

MARCONI IN ANOTHER AUTOMOBILE SMASHUP

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Bologna, Italy, Oct. 17.—William Marconi, the wireless inventor, was in another automobile accident this morning similar to the one which cost the loss of an eye some time ago. While motoring with his wife to Pontecchia his motor car collided with a cart while turning a corner. The chauffeur turned quickly and ran into a horse. The shock broke all the glass in the automobile and scattered it over the occupants, none of whom, however, were injured.

First Riddle.

The first riddle on record is that propounded by Samson to the thirty companions who came to the marriage feast of his wife—afterward burned to death with her father by the Philistines—and for the answer to which he promised to give them 30 sheets and 30 changes of garments. "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness." For the outcome, see the book of Judges, 14:12-20.

Dog Adopts Rabbits.

Unwonted affection between animals of different species is evidenced near Cortin county, Tyrone, Ireland. A local farmer named Fleming, has a female fox terrier which was deprived of her two pups when they were four weeks old. Two weeks ago she was out hunting and came on a rabbit burrow in which were bunnies two or three days old. Three of these the dog carried carefully to her kennel, and since then she has been rearing them.

FRIDAY. JINKS IS LUCKY IN SOME WAYS.

SPORT Snap-Shots

Perhaps the most pleasant feature of the world's series—certainly the most pleasant for the participants—was the fact that the whole thing was over last Monday each and every player on both teams was mailed a check representing his wages for the services he offered in the games of the season. The average envelope for the Athletics, who of course got the winners' end and the big part of the swag, amounted to approximately $3,280. All of that for the playing five games of baseball, our popular pastime. The Athletics' plans for spending their money are various. Eddie Murphy is going to buy a new car with part of his and spend the rest on a farm. Strunk thinks he'll put his change in the bank for a while anyway and think it over. Maybe later on he'll think of something he wants real bad that costs $3,280. "Stuffy" McInnis is going to buy a sailboat and put some money in a jewelry business in his town of Worcester, Mass. Quite a few of the boys are interested in agriculture it would seem, for Eddie Plank, "Rube" Oldring, Wyckoff, Dan Daley, Brown and Shang are all planning to buy farm lands. Others of them are safely stowing it away in the bank. Says Frank Baker: "Mine goes right into the saving and trust. Don't quote me as buying a farm. I've got a bunch of them already." A couple of them are going to work up a little more education and Pennock, pitcher, is going to take a trip across the drink. Let's see—what would we do with $3,280?

The world's series fans in Philadelphia, who planned to view the game from some adjacent house roof were bitterly disappointed after the second game at Philadelphia. The building in Philadelphia decided that it was hardly safe for so many to roost on the roofs that surround Shibe park and a contraband was tacked into the practice. Frequently there would be as many as 1,000 people watching the game from vantage points outside the park and $2 was the usual price of admission.

VICTORY FOR J. H. S. IS STUDENTS HOPE

Belief is That Janesville Will Enter Championship Circles This Year if They Defeat Stoughton.

"Win from Stoughton, and then conquer the southern section of the state," is the students' cry, which was heard last night and today from these anxious on-lookers, who will watch the game in Stoughton tomorrow in hopes of giving the locals a clean victory. The eleven is bound to get the support tomorrow, for at least one hundred will accompany the team, who leave at ten-thirty in the morning.

Stoughton have not been heard from this year. They boast of several men from last year back, and in that case a good game can be looked for. If they play as they did against the heavy Freeport squad, they will have it easy, as far as weight goes, because the Stoughton team averages only 135 or 140 pounds, while the Sucker men made the scales register at 185.

Janesville's strength in Wisconsin is untied. When they met Edgerton, they had but four regulars in the lineup, disqualifications preventing the other seven from participating in the game. A return game with the Tobacco City men will be arranged, if the locals defeat Monroe more than Edgerton did last Saturday. The locals look for a walk-away with Monroe. Their showing depends entirely upon that game, although Saturday's game is what tells whether Janesville can enter championship circles this fall or not.

The drizzling rain prevented strenuous practice yesterday. A signal drill in the high school gym was about the only workout the men experienced. Light signal work will be held at Grant Park tonight, in final preparation for tomorrow.

WILL GIVE CARROLL CASE OF HOT FEET

Coach Evans of Beloit Eleven Says Waukesha Collegians Will Keep Warm Chasing His Scoring Machine.

Beloit, Wis., Oct. 17.—Beloit and Carroll college football teams will meet in the first of the state championship games at Beloit on Saturday night. The Waukesha report yesterday that the State Liners were suffering from a severe case of "cold feet."

"Cold feet" is a new one on me," said Coach Evans of the locals, today when shown the Waukesha report. "You can say for me that there will be no 'cold feet' on Saturday, but instead there will a lot of 'hot feet' and Carroll will get most of her feet chafing us as we make touchdowns."

HE'S PUTTING PEP INTO YALE ELEVEN

Coach Howard Jones.

Howard Jones, head coach of Yale, has taken hold of the football material and is moulding it into such shape that Eli fans have high hopes of defeating Yale's traditional rivals, Harvard and Princeton, this fall. Last season Yale was defeated by Harvard and tied by Princeton in two of the most spectacular games of the year.

MAJORITY OF WORLD'S CHAMPS PLAN NICE VACATIONS FOR FALL SEASON

The world's series won, the victorious Philadelphia Athletics have scattered to different sections of the country. A majority of them, including Collins, Baker, Strunk, Shawkey, Lapp, Chief Bender, McInnis and D. Murphy, will spend the fall weeks hunting. Schang and Bush are auto enthusiasts and will spend the most of their time during the next several weeks riding around in their machines.

TEAM IN WILD DASH FOR SEVERAL MILES IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Frightened Horses in Mad Flight for Four Miles on Railroad Track Escape Unharmed.

Left standing unhitched in front of the Croak brewery on North River street about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, a team of horses belonging to a farmer by the name of Manthei, who lives on the Burdick farm on the Magnolia road, became frightened at the Chicago and Northwestern passenger No. 513, north-bound, and started on a wild dash of four or five miles up the track ahead of the train.

The team was hitched to a light wagon and it is a miracle that both of the horses were not injured as they were forced to cross two open culverts and a viaduct between the brewery to the road which they turned off. Despite their hard run over the bumpy road bed, when caught in the farmer's yard, both horses were without a scratch on them and the only damage done was to twenty-four pints of beer, which was thrown from the wagon and scattered along the track.

When the horses started to run ahead of the passenger and continued up the track, the engineers stopped in hopes that the team would recover from their fright. As they disappeared around the curve the train started again and came upon the team, a mile and a half from the city. Although the train was an hour late they proceeded at a slow rate, the hope being that the animals would not become more frightened and go over the embankment. Section men were called out and started in search of the runaway team.

On coming to the first road near the tracks, the team turned and continued their mad dash up the road-way. They were finally turned into a farm yard and were brought back to the city by the section men. Although the men searched industriously, no trace of the beer was found.

NINETY DAY TERMS GIVEN TWO DRUNKS

Jack Cronin and John Connor Sentenced by Judge Maxfield This Morning.

Ninety days at hard labor was the sentence passed this morning upon Jack Cronin and John Connor by Judge Maxfield of the municipal court. Neither was able to accept the alternative of a fine of $25 and costs. Cronin pleaded guilty but Connor not guilty to the charge of drunkenness. Patrolman Harry Smith, who placed him under arrest was sworn and testified that he picked him up in an intoxicated condition. Connor was also sworn but he could present no evidence in his defense. At his conviction on the charge followed Thomas Alward, a farm hand, was unable to pay a fine of $16 and costs and received a fifteen day sentence.

ADJUTANT GENERAL A ROCK COUNTY MAN

Oscar A. James, Honored With High G. A. R. Appointment, Was Born in Town of Johnstown.

The new adjutant general of the Grand Army of the Republic, Oscar A. James, recently appointed by the commander in Chief, Washington Gardner, is a native of Wisconsin. He was born in Johnstown, Rock county, in 1843. He attended Milton college, going from there to Hillsdale, Mich., and enlisting in the Fourth Michigan infantry in 1862. He was in all of the battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, North Anna, Cold Harbor and those about Petersburg until he was wounded and lost an arm.

In civil life he was a lawyer, a judge, a state senator and for sixteen years United States pension agent at Detroit. He served on the staff of the late Gen. Russell A. Alger when that gentleman was governor of the state, with the rank of colonel. He has taken hold of his new duties in a way that gives promise of invaluable help to the commander in chief in making his administration one of great service to the order and the country.

Nation Refused Legacy.
Occasionally somebody makes a will bequeathing money to help pay off a national debt. In 1773 Col. Thomas Norton of Southwick, England, bequeathed $150,000 for this patriotic purpose. Probate was opposed, and the judge who tried the case decided that the colonel was insane, such a legacy being "only as a drop of water poured into the sea." The legacy was therefore divided among the members of the Norton family.

PARENTS DEAD, HIS BRAIN AND LUNGS HALF GONE, BOY GROPES FOR KNOWLEDGE

Willie Katz at work in Chicago hospital.

Willie Katz is an inmate of the County hospital, Chicago. Born of consumptive parents, both of whom are dead, he is not normal. When he was admitted to the hospital two years ago, only one lobe of his brain had developed, one chamber of his heart was out of commission, and his lungs were so ravaged by tuberculosis that less than one-third remained. The boy had nothing to do all day in the hospital, so he studied electricity and is proving himself a genius.

SCIENCE NOTES

Sixteen million dollars is being spent on the improvement of the Liverpool docks and part of this elaborate scheme is the construction of the Gladstone Dock, which has just been completed. This dock is 1,000 feet long, 120 feet wide at the entrance and 46 feet deep over the slits. The other improvements contemplated will add very materially to the capacity of the port of Liverpool and include a new half-tide dock covering 15 acres, a new entrance dock and several branch docks.

A new method of determining the dew-point is described by Heygenhoff in the Physikalisches Zeitschrift as follows: Take a vessel of some metal that is a good conductor of heat, e. g., silver or copper cup. Fill it with water and introduce the bulb of a thermometer. Then add slowly some salt, such as sodium chloride or hypophosphite of soda, the solution of which lowers the temperature of the mixture, meanwhile stirring the liquid with the thermometer. At the precise moment, when the outside of the vessel becomes coated with moisture, note the temperature registered by the thermometer. This is the dew-point temperature of the surrounding air.

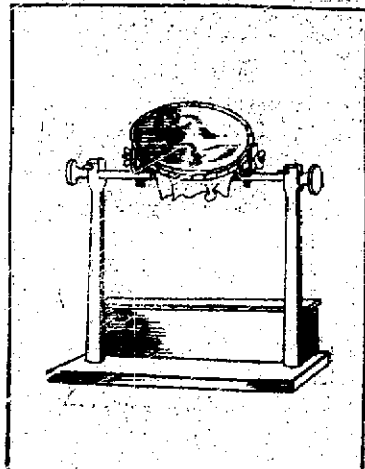

What will be the largest hydro-electric power station in Canada is now rapidly approaching completion at Cedar Rapids, in the St. Lawrence River, near Montreal. When this shall be first thrown into operation it will have a rating of 100,000 horsepower, which will be nearly doubled subsequently. It will ultimately have a capacity of 160,000-horsepower. Contracts for 80,000-horsepower were made before the work of building had been commenced. In many respects the equipment will resemble that of the Keokuk Dam, on the Mississippi, which was recently completed. The turbines, with a rating of 10,800-horsepower, are said to be the largest ever built.

The danger of launching boats from the side of a big steamer is said to be overcome by a recent invention which provides a series of inclined tracks with their upper ends at the bow of the boat and extending to a point about midships. The boat is on wheels, supplied with grooves so that the craft cannot readily leave the tracks until it reaches the water. The passengers are placed in the boat before it is sent on its downward trip. The boat strikes the water bow on and slides easily into the sea without any shock to the occupants. The track would be in the way under ordinary circumstances, particularly when entering and leaving harbor, but provision is made to dispose of it in a manner that leaves little or no room for criticism in this particular. When the lifeboats are being launched, as in case of an accident at sea, the tracks are held at a distance from the side to the ship sufficient to prevent the small boat from being dashed against the larger one.

EMBROIDERY FRAME

Supports Work-holding Frame and Leaves Both Hands Free.

For the benefit of needle and embroidery workers in general, a new and handy apparatus has been designed of uprights mounted on it and rocking arms resting in grooves at the top of the standards. These are short arms, and on their inner ends are clamps to hold the hoops in which the fabric is held taut. The outer ends of the arms are knobby by means of which they may be manipulated.

RESTS ON WORKER'S LAP.

An elbowrest is mounted in front of the uprights. The needleworker holds the device on her lap and by turning the knobs on the outer ends of the arms, adjusts the hoop to whatever angle she desires. It is thus held firmly, and she can give her whole attention to the making of the finest stitches, and, if necessary, rest her forearms.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If tongue is coated or if cross, feverish, constipated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it makes their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

U. S. GETS DATA ON NATION'S RICH MEN

W. H. Osborn.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue W. H. Osborn has just made public the estimates on incomes from the middle west. These estimates were made by collectors in the various districts. The commissioner is inclined to believe the reports are so far from correct that he will not use them to any extent in his plans for the collection of the income tax.

Women in Congress.

The late James Freeman Clarke, answering a man who feared that if women had the ballot they would go to congress, said: "Perhaps so, but not until we want them. And when we want them we shall no longer be shocked at their taking such positions."

The Theatre

The "Tik-Tok Man of Oz" which Oliver Morosco will present at the

FRED WOODWARD in "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz."

Myers theater on Saturday, Oct. 25, is announced as "a quaint musical diversion," but it is much more than that. It is a musical comedy, a magnificent spectacle, with a score musical enough to accompany the libretto of a light opera and with a scenic investiture on a scale of gorgeousness seldom seen in this or any other country. Like "The Wizard of Oz," it is set forth in words of one syllable.

Children love "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz." And this one fact proves that its just the type of entertainment that will appeal to the tired business man.

But here, in brief, is the story of "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz." Betsy Robbin of Oklahoma and Hank, her pet mule, have been shipwrecked and cast ashore on a raft on the Rose Kingdom of Oz. They are threatened with dire punishment if they do not immediately leave. But their tears are stilled when the Shaggy Man, searching for his lost brother, of whom he must ask an important question, drops from earth through the glass roof of the green house. He carries the love magnet which will protect them from all harm and so they proceed fearlessly. Hank's movements cause them to explore an old well and there they fish out the Tik-Tok Man, whom they proceed to wind up and set to talking. The Tik-Tok Man leads them to the Metal Kingdom, ruled by King Ruggedo.

Ruggedo, enraged, orders them immediately punished. But the Shaggy Man has stolen the key to the secret forest and there is found his long lost brother. The Tik-Tok Man is wound up for a hundred years and all live happily ever after.

Of course this is merely a suggestion. The play is a whirl of color, a mass of scenery and bewildering costumes.

Edgerton, Oct. 17.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large number was present at the parents' and teachers' meeting held in the assembly of the High School building last evening. The meeting opened with musical numbers as follows: Miss Margaret Anderson, piano solo; Miss Norma Hargraves, vocal solo and Miss Kathleen Aulton, violin solo. Addresses were made by Rev. O. Holt, S. B. Gettle, Rev. North, Rev. Blenkinsoppe and Dr. Morrison. The co-operation of the teachers and parents was the substance of the talks. Refreshments were served by the domestic science department of the freshman class. Much benefit was derived from this meeting and Mr. Holt expects to hold a meeting of this kind about every six weeks. John Olson of Stoughton, spent

In turning out to pass a loaded wagon just north of town, their auto skidded against the wagon and turned turtle. The car will need considerable repairing.

Why "Blackballed." The ancient Greeks used marked shells for voting, and from the Greek word ostrakon comes the English word ostracize, that is, to shut out by one unfavorable shell. "Blackballed" means the same thing, once upon a time white and black balls being used for secret voting.

LOUISIANA FLOOD DAMAGE WILL REACH MILLIONS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Lake Charles, La., Oct. 17.—Flood damage in western Louisiana will reach several millions of dollars, it can be stated with certainty now that the waters have subsided sufficiently that a fairly accurate estimate can be made. The greatest money loss falls on the rice planters. The season had been ideal and the floods came just when harvesting was getting under way. Much rice in the shock was ruined as was the ripe rice still uncut. While the business districts of this and numerous other places were flooded there was ample time for merchants to move stocks so that this damage was negligible. The railways were heavy losers, as bridges and long sections of road bed were washed out. Considerable damage also was done to private property.

Facts About the Bible.
The middle verse of the Bible is the eighth verse of the one hundred and eighteenth Psalm. The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter j. The longest verse is the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the ninth verse of the eleventh chapter of St. John.

October 17, 1913.—The area of unsettled, rainy weather in the south central states has developed into an area of low barometer which is moving northeastward toward the lower Lake Region. It is marked by continued rains throughout the Lake Region, Lower Ohio, and Mississippi valleys. It is warmer in its front, and colder in its rear. Courtship in Oshima.
On the Japanese island of Oshima in the Sea of Japan the young people enjoy more freedom in the matter of courting than in Central Japan. They are left to themselves to select their own mates, much after the fashion of the west. When a young suitor proposes to the girl of his choice, the girl declines two or three times as a matter of form, and in order that she may enjoy the period of courtship.

Ranch-Bred Foxes Best.
While the supply of ranch foxes is on the increase, the wild fox is becoming more scarce. For instance, out of 56 live foxes captured by the Indians in the Yukon district last spring, only two were silver black. The silver gray foxes of this lot commanded $3,600 a pair. There is, besides, a decided superiority to the ranch-bred fox, as the animal is better fed and has the best of care.

Blue of the Sky.
Oxygen is not colorless, but of a pretty blue color, even in a layer of slight thickness. Liquid air has a bluish tint increasing in depth with the proportion of oxygen. While it is not certain that a body has the same color in a solid as in the gaseous state, it is nevertheless true that this at once suggests an explanation of the phenomenon of the blue color of the sky.—Scientific American.

What Is Conversion?

By REV. H. W. POPE
Superintendent of Men
Meady Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—"Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."

Let us consider first some things which are not conversion, but which are often mistaken for it. To improve one's life is not conversion. It is a common opinion that if one will drop all bad habits and cultivate good ones, read the Bible and go to church, he can make himself a Christian in a short time. This is a mistake. The Christian life is not simply an improvement of the old life, but a different kind of a life altogether, namely, a life of obedience to Christ. Suppose you had a sour apple tree which you wished to convert into a sweet apple tree. What would you do? Would you dig about it and prune it and scrape the bark? No, indeed. A hundred years of such improvement would not make the tree bear sweet apples, but the introduction of a graft from a sweet apple tree would do it very quickly. Even so a lifetime spent in improving one's habits does not make one a Christian, but the entrance of Jesus Christ into the heart by the surrender of the will, will do it in a moment. People do not become Christians by improving their life, but by accepting Jesus Christ. "He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." (1 John 5:12).

What is Conversion?
The word convert means to "turn about." As applied to spiritual things, it means a turning of the soul unto God. "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way." The real essence of sin is this, that the sinner is determined to have his own way. It may not be the worst way in the world. It may not be an immoral way, or a vicious way, but it is his way and not God's way, which he ought to follow. The only course for the sinner to pursue is to turn about, to abandon his way, and to accept God's way. "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him." Conversion, then, is a turning of the soul unto God, a surrender of the will to the divine will, an acceptance of Jesus Christ as our Lord and Master. When the sinner, realizing the folly of further resistance, finally surrenders his will to the Lord Jesus, then occurs a great change. God forgives his sins, and so changes his heart that henceforth he loves God's way better than his own way. "A new heart will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you—And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes" (Ezek. 36:26, 27). The sinner no longer has a controversy with God. The great question of life is settled, and henceforth his aim is to know and do the will of God.

Influences Leading to Conversion.
The Word of God is a very effective agency. It is like a mirror in which the sinner sees himself as he really is. That is why Christ bids us preach the gospel to every creature because there is life in it. "The Word of God is alive, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword." One can hardly read the Bible continuously and not be made to realize that he is a sinner and need a Savior.

On one occasion a man said to me: "From the preaching which I heard in my boyhood I was led to suppose that when one became a Christian, it was necessary for him to go through some extraordinary process called a change of heart, or regeneration. This book which you have loaned me, teaches that what is required is simply a change of purpose. Now will you please tell me which is right, and which is wrong?" I replied: "They are both right; you could not change your heart if you should try; you could not make it love what it naturally hated, could you?" "No, I suppose not," he said. "But you could change your purpose, could you not? You could decide henceforth to obey the Lord Jesus?" "Certainly," he replied. "Well," said I, "if you will change your purpose and accept Christ as your Savior, God will change your heart and cause you to love what once you hated, and to hate what once you loved." "Is that all there is to it?" said he. "Certainly," I replied. He lost no time in accepting Christ and God gave him a new heart.

"Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation." If you say, "I want more time to think about it," I answer, "What will you gain by waiting? What have you gained by waiting already? No, friend, what you need is not time but decision. You know that you are a sinner, and that Christ is the only one who can save you. The simple question is, 'Will you accept him as your Savior?' God expects you to do it, commands you to do it, and if it is ever done, you are the one who must do it."

Pretty Sure Sign.

THE REPORT OF THE SPIES

The wilderness of the Sinai Peninsula was God's school-house for his people. There he taught them his law and worship. The course of study covered a whole year. The graduation was to have occurred at Kadesh. Sin and folly marred it all. The "Comencement" of Israel in Canaan was set back a generation. The appointment of the spies was a gross insult to Jehovah. He had assured the people that the land was good. He had promised the possession of it to them. That should have been enough. In the Lord's name, they ought to have set up their banners and gone up at once to possess it. The long vista back to Egypt was studied, the memories of God's faithfulness and power, the fact that he had been so mindful of them in the past should have been to them a pledge of future blessing. They should have reasoned, "If God could take us out of the invincible clutch of a great world-power, Egypt, what prevents his planting us securely in Canaan?" But in the epidemic of fear, the breaking of Pharaoh's inflexible will, the plagues of their cruel oppressors, the difference at the Red Sea and at Kadesh, sweetened waters and manna, the wonders of Sinai, all were forgotten. Israel conferred with flesh and blood in preference to taking counsel of the Lord, with the inevitable and miserable outcome of such a course. By this very deed the people showed their unfitness to enter the land of promise. A more palatable exhibition could scarcely be conceived. The Lord acceded to their request, but knew that in doing so Canaan was effectively closed to Israel as Eden was to the first guilty pair. Moses, with the consent of the Lord, proceeded to choose, with the greatest care possible, a prince from each tribe. No doubt he strongly hoped that their report would restore the spirit of the wavering host. To this day Palestine is sort of bridge between Asia and Africa, on which there are always strangers passing back and forth. This little company would not necessarily attract attention, especially as they were probably attired as Egyptians, and likely spoke the language of that country fluently. If ever they went into close quarters, they might be trusted to get out by their wits. They belonged to a race notorious for finesse.

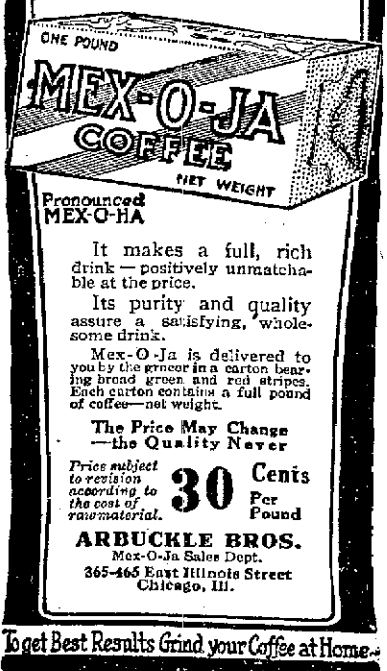

After an absence of forty days, they returned to the camp of Israel, bringing with them the same tale that would have put to shame the best exhibit of a modern horticultural society. Their report was listened to with avidity. The exordium was gracious. It pictured, in the lavish language of the Orient, the phenomenal fruitfulness of Canaan. But the exordium was short. It was a mere ornamental fringe to a body the warp of which was unbelief, and the woof distrust. The land is desirable, of course, but its possession is impracticable. The towering stature of the invincible prowess, the vast number of the inhabitants, are pictured with most dispiriting effect. The Hebrews were accustomed to the sight in Egypt of ponderous fortifications. But these were on the dead level of the Nile Valley. To see such walls lifted upon the top of inaccessible cliffs would produce the extreme effect of impenetrability. They could hardly tell where the natural base left off and the artificial superstructure began. The cities seemed walled to the very heavens. Two men hang the jury. Caleb and Joshua, dauntless souls, full of faith, demand a hearing. They hush, for a moment at least, the ever augmenting murmur of disappointment, distrust, and incipient rebellion. They admit the difficulties, but at the same moment sound the bugle-call of faith: "Let us go up at once and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it!" But infidelity is now rampant. Demoralization is now complete. The whole congregation spend a night in weeping. On the other side the exclamation is heard, "Death in Egypt would have been better than this!" Treason and revolt are in the air. The proposition is once more made to elect a captain to lead them back to Egypt. In vain do Moses and Aaron intercede themselves before the assembly, and Joshua and Caleb read their clothes.

THE TEACHERS LANTERN.

The inevitable interruption of sin at epochal moments in national and personal history, with all its train of disastrous consequences, is well calculated to emphasize and illustrate its damning nature. While Moses was bringing the law down from Sinai, the people were making and worshipping the golden calf in the plain. When the beautiful tabernacle was complete, the priesthood instituted, and the ritual prescribed, two drunken young priests went reeling into the sacred place and Presence with strange fire in their censers. So in this instance, when Israel stood at length on the threshold of Canaan, fully equipped to enter, there was a cowardly halt, the use of a human expedient which discounted the truthfulness, fidelity, and power of God. The lapse was complete. Caleb and Joshua had a close call to martyrdom. The stones were uplifted, and his servants were openly and grossly insulted. The election of a new captain and a return to Egypt were proposed. How insidious the approaches of sin! The Hebrews had no idea of going to such lengths when they began. Again Moses appears in the lovely role of the mediator. Humble and disinterested, forgiving and patriotic, his mouth was full of arguments to God in behalf of sinners. He prevailed. Too late Israel repented their refusal to enter the land of promise. They added the sin of presumption to that of unbelief and rebellion. The next day, without the aid of rescue, or their leaders, they hurled themselves against the Amalekites and Canaanites. As well might Adam and Eve have thrown themselves upon the angel's cimeter, flashing every way, at the gate of a lost paradise.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEVOTIONAL SERVICE.

October 19, 1913. Philippians 3:7-15 How to Make This the Best Year in Our Society's History. (Led by the Pastor.) John Stewart Mill says, "The worth of the state is the worth of the individuals who compose the state." The principle applies to all organizations. The way to improve the whole is to improve the individual. Jesus is the ideal for all. Everything else in comparison to him is to be counted as "reckless" and to be treated accordingly. To know Jesus—not as an historical personage merely, but as One who is the most potent being in current life—one who survives in the ideals of purity, love and service he has loaned in the world—this is the source of real, large, and lasting improvement.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

THE RINGING OF THE BELL.

The scene is Lloyd's, in London, that ancient and historic and exceedingly busy place where the ships of the world are insured.

The underwriters and their clerks are engaged in their important tasks. There is work to be done, that the loss of a ship may not mean ruin to her owners, but may be distributed. It is a place of pounds and dollars and marks and francs, in the atmosphere of which, it seems, there should be no tinge of sentiment.

Once, twice, rings a bell! A ship, reported lost, is safe. Instantly business is forgotten. The brokers and their clerks throng about the bell and they cheer and they shake hands with one another and they are as happy as schoolboys. A ship is safe! The bell has announced it.

Cynics may say: "Of course they would rejoice. Doesn't the pealing of the bell mean the saving of insurance?" Not so—shame on you, Master Cynic! The bell is pealed for the salvation of human life, the coming back of those who were menaced.

So in each life, when some one loved and dear and imperiled is saved from death or illness or shipwreck, moral or physical, there should be pealed a bell of thankfulness and rejoicing, not once or twice, but many times.

The ship that bears our loved ones, laboring in great waters against storm and stress, amid the darkening clouds of danger and doubt, we thought was lost, but it is safe. Those we feared were gone are returned to us. Let us sound the bell of the rejoicing of the spirit. Let us make music on the timbrels of the heart.

Many there be that navigate the sea of life, and all do not come to port. Of some there is told the tale of the tempest and the hurricane, the awful wrath of the clouds of sin and the pounding to pieces on the reefs of moral destruction.

If perchance we can throw out the life line of aid to such before it is too late and bring them safely to the shore of safe and healthy and happy life—Let us ring the bell and rejoice!

Where It Has the Advantage.

"The pen is mightier than the sword," said the ready-made philosopher. "I don't quite see how the adage applies to current conditions," commented the man with a practical mind. "It probably refers to the fact that the sword as now worn is entirely harmless, while a fountain pen can explode in a way that will ruin a $45 suit of clothes in five seconds."—Washington Star.

MEMORY

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Memory is a sort of mental glue by which facts are stuck to the brain. Some facts stick much more readily than others. Almost everyone remembers the date of Washington's birthday. Yet most men only remember their wives' birthday with great effort, some weeks after said birthdays have passed on.

Memory is very useful, because it relieves a man from the job of learning everything he knows fresh each morning. Some men have such good memories that they can rise, go to work and proceed through the entire day without being obliged to learn a single new fact.

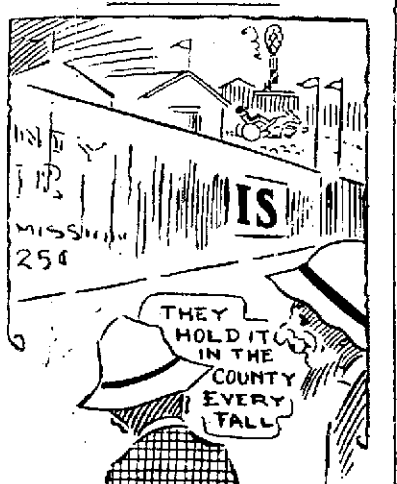

Some men are able to memorize whole chapters of the Bible at a single reading. Others do not even remember who was the author of this great work, but when asked what Zimmerman's batting average was in the year 1907, they reply accurately and without hesitation.

Many a college professor can remember the date of everything important that has happened up to 1800. But in order to make him remember to bring home a pound of butter his wife would have to carve a memorandum on his skull.

The human brain is capable of remembering a vast array of facts at one time. However, a great many people do not use much common sense in selecting these facts. Often a man will have upwards of 11,000 funny stories alphabetically arranged in his memory, but would have to be prompted ten times in order to recite the ten commandments.

Moreover, any young man who has won the valedictory in college by remembering the contents of a wagon load of text books, has been removed from job after job with great rapidity afterward, because he could not remember what the boss told him to do next.

Memory is a fine thing, but when it isn't harnessed it is as useless as an Arabian horse without a bridle. Many men go sadly through life remembering a vast quantity of facts or which they have no use, and forgetting to call up the bank before cashing a check for a total stranger. We should strive to so live that our debtors will remember us while we are alive, and our creditors will remember us with deep gratitude after we have passed on.

The Evening Chit-Chat

HELPING THE WORLD ALONG

A SWEET faced young woman laid a big bundle of lingerie on the counter at the laundry. "I want these for tomorrow afternoon. You'll be sure to have them for me, won't you?" she said.

The proprietress opened up the big bundle of fussy work and looked dubious. "We really ought to have two full days," she said doubtfully.

"But I'm going away and I must have them. You know I've brought a lot of work here," suggestively.

The proprietress reached for a slip. "We'll try our best," she said wearily.

"Oh, thank you so much!" said the sweet faced young woman, in a tone as sweet as her face, and she tripped lightly out of the door rejoicing to have won her point, and to have escaped from the heat, which even in that outer office was well nigh unbearable.

The idea that she had done anything at all wrong or unkind never occurred to her.

And yet I have heard that same sweet faced young woman rail quite bitterly against the rich men who forced their laborers to work under unhealthy and disagreeable conditions or drive them at a cruel pace in order to add a few dollars to their own fortunes.

I'm sure she thinks that if she were a rich manufacturer she would never commit such abuses.

And yet in this little matter which was within her jurisdiction, she proved her self quite as selfish and relentless in getting what she wanted at the price of driving or over time work for the laundry employees.

It is not so easy to imagine what one would do if one had great power.

It is not so easy to do what one should with the power one actually has.

You and I and many other good people are greatly troubled by the suffering which we see around us as a result of unsatisfactory social conditions. We rail against the malefactors of great wealth, but we have no right to rail unless our own hands are absolutely clean. There are malefactors of little wealth, too.

If we fail in the smaller social responsibilities which our particular station in life puts upon us, we thereby show our calibre. We have no right to assume that we would be any more just or generous in a position of larger responsibility.

There are many little ways in which the least powerful of us can do our share toward improving social and industrial conditions. We can refrain from making these quasi-public servants whom we indirectly employ work overtime, or at unnatural speed, for our idle convenience; we can show our appreciation of social justice by patronizing the shop or factory which treats its workers well. We can taboo the establishment where conditions are notoriously bad.

It's always a temptation to fancy that we humble folks have no responsibilities in this direction, but it is the greatest mistake in the world. Of course, we cannot do other people as much harm by our selfishness as the man of wealth and power, but we can do ourselves just as much harm, and we certainly abdicate any right to criticize those whose selfishness differs in its consequences, but not in its character, from our own.

sonings, working them well into the meat. Beat the eggs well and add them with the bread crumbs and cream. Mix well again and press into a bread pan which has been rinsed in cold water, but not wiped.

Press well into the corners and then loosen the sides with a knife and let drop into the baking pan. Cover and bake in a moderate oven one hour. Uncover and bake half an hour longer. Serve hot or cold.

Corn Beef Hash.

Materials—Chopped corn beef, one pint; cream, one-fourth cup; chopped cold potatoes, one pint; butter, one tablespoon; onion, salt and pepper, poached eggs, one.

Directions—Rub the inside of your spider well with a cut onion. Add the butter and let it get hot. Then add the meat and potatoes well mixed and season according to taste. Sauté the corn beef. Turn into the spider, spread evenly and pour over the cream. Cover and set over a slow fire where it will brown slowly and evenly underneath. When done fold over and turn out on a platter and serve with poached eggs around it. This will serve four persons. The secret of all hashes is cooking them slowly and never letting them get dry. Do not chop meat or potatoes too fine.

Spanish Hash.

Materials—Cold meat of any kind, one cup; canned tomatoes, one cup; cold boiled potatoes, four; small onions, two; green pepper (small), one; egg, one.

Directions—Chop potatoes, meat, onions and green peppers, not too fine. Add the tomatoes, well beaten eggs, salt and pepper and three drops of tobacco sauce. Drop in spoonfuls into well greased muffin rings and bake in a hot oven until firm. Serve with tomato sauce.

These may be baked in greased custard cups and set in a pan of hot water to bake. Turn out on a hot platter with the sauce poured around them.

Hungarian Goulash.

Materials—Veal, three pounds; large potatoes, three; carrots, two; water, two cups; cream, one cup; drippings, one-half cup; large onions, three; paprika, salt.

Directions—Put the butter or drippings into the sauce pan over the fire and melt it. Add the potatoes, onions and try until yellow, then add the veal and cook long enough to brown. Turn in the water, cover closely and cook very slowly until the meat is tender. Then add the carrots and cook until the top of the meat and cook until they are tender. Add cream and cook five minutes longer and serve.

There are many recipes for this national dish and the seasoning may be varied to suit the fancy. The main thing is cooking it slowly. If desired cooked in a fireless cooker, add potatoes and carrots at the beginning with seasonings. Then reheat with the cream for five minutes over the fire.

Hamburg Steak.

Materials—Round steak, two pounds; flour, one-half cup; drippings, one-half cup; onion juice, one teaspoonful; chopped parsley, one teaspoonful; egg, one; pepper and salt.

Directions—Chop the meat very fine and add the seasoning. Beat the egg and mix it with the meat. Divide into four or five portions and shape into round cakes about one inch thick. Dredge these on both sides with flour and fry in the spider with the drippings, turning them so as to brown them on both sides.

SOME GOOD DISHES.

Fruit Layer Cake.—This is a rich cake, but is most delicious and may be used on company occasions when something especially nice is desired. Cream a cupful of butter, add two cups of sugar and six well beaten eggs, two and a half cups of flour, a cup of milk, a teaspoon of vanilla and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat well and bake in three layers.

Filling.—Dissolve two cupfuls of sugar until it threads; pour over the well beaten whites of three eggs. Beat well and add half a cup of citron shredded fine, half a cup of finely shredded figs, one cup of chopped raisins, one pound of blanched almonds chopped. Spread between the layers and on the top of the cake.

Spanish Bernado.—Wash, skin and cut into small pieces two pounds of bass; have ready five potatoes peeled and sliced, two onions sliced, half a cup of catsup. Arrange in a deep baking dish, first the fish, then the potatoes, then the onions, and last the tomatoes. Pour over the catsup and cut two tablespoonfuls of butter into bits and sprinkle over the top. Salt well and add a few dashes of red pepper. Bake three hours, well covered.

Sea Foam.—Dissolve two cups of sugar in half a cup of water, then add a half cup of table sirup and boil until a little dropped into water will harden. Pour the hot sirup slowly over the well beaten whites of two eggs, beating until it will hold its shape when dropped from the spoon. Add nuts and vanilla and pour out into a greased pan or drop by spoonfuls on a buttered sheet.

Raisin Pie.—Fill a pastry lined plate with the following: One cup of seeded raisins, two eggs well beaten, half a cup of sugar, the rind and juice of half a lemon and a cup of water. Cover with a crust and bake a half hour.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Last summer I met a man thirty-two years old and did not care for him. He seemed to care for me and told me mother that he loved me. I am twenty-three years old and since I have not seen him for a year I think that his affections toward me are more than friendship.

I wrote to him and he answered and was very glad to get the letter. Then he passed through the city last month and called, but I was up town. I wrote again and told him that I was sorry that I missed his visit, but maybe he could come in a few weeks for a day or so. He has never answered. What am I to think about it? Shall I write again?

LONESOME.

You did all that could have been expected of you. Don't write again. He really cares anything about you he will manage to let you hear from him somehow.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: You once gave me some good advice, and now I come for more. I am a girl of seventeen years, seven months old, and have a boy friend some nine years older. We love each other dearly and here one Sunday he went by my place with another girl. We are not engaged, but we intend to be.

(1)—Now do you think his love for me is growing cold? His parents removed him for his wrong doing and told him not to forget his promise to me. Do you think he will give up this girl and come back to me? He used to come and see me but he doesn't any more; he is afraid of my parents. They never treat him very well. What can I do to make him love me again? His parents don't want him to give me up.

My parents do not allow me any pleasure whatever and do not allow me to speak or write to him.

(3)—Shall I speak and write to him on the sly? (4)—Would it be wrong for me to leave home when I am eighteen and go out working and still keep company with him? (5)—If I would leave home, could my parents make it hard for me? (6)—Would it be wrong for me to leave home and work out for a couple of years and then marry him? He is a nice respectable young man; does not gamble or get drunk.

COUNTRY SIS.

(1)—Why shouldn't he have other girl friends besides you, without his love growing cold? If you try too hard to hold him tight to you, he will naturally want to be contrary. (2)—You can't do anything except be nice to him when you see him. (3)—No. Tell him the truth and if he loves you he will wait until you are eighteen, then ask you to marry him. (4)—Not if your parents are willing. But be sure that you know where you are going for there are many pitfalls for a girl outside of her home. (5)—You should find life pretty hard without your parents trying to make it hard for you. You cannot leave home and earn your own living, according to the law, until you are twenty-one. (6)—I refer you to my answer to question No. 2.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—What can be done for an oily face and for a shiny nose?

(2)—Does it mean anything if a young man checks you under the chin? Should you resent it?

CHUMS.

(1)—A little diluted alcohol patted on the face will take away the oiliness. Use such face and a little powder for the shiny nose.

(2)—It means that he took a liberty that you should resent.

Death Rate.

A bulletin issued by the New York board of health shows that the death rate among married men is much lower than that among single men. From twenty to thirty the death rate among the married is 4.2, while among the bachelors it is 6.6. From thirty to forty the rate is, the married, about 6; the single, nearly 13. From forty to fifty the rate among the married is 9.6; among the single, 19.5.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

By FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

It is a well known fact that during the past ten years meat has continued to rise in price, so that roasts, steaks and chops make a bill for the butcher to present that is truly appalling.

It will be time well spent if every woman acquaints herself with the carcass of a beef. This can be done by sending to Washington for the Farmer's Bulletin 391, on the "Economic Use of Meat in the Home." It will be promptly sent free of charge and is, to a person of slender income, a genuine aid in the reducing of the meat bill, without taking from the family any of the nourishment that they should have.

In looking over this bulletin I find that there is more to a beef than the average woman is aware of, and to be candid, if we were supplied with the knowledge that may be had for the asking, our meat bills would be "on the roof."

It would not take a business man long to procure any pamphlet that was an aid in his work, that is, if he were the kind that stay in business. I suggest that every woman that reads this send for the bulletin herein mentioned.

Cheaper Cuts of Meat sounds like a symphony in our ears. It can be made a glad reality, by learning how to buy.

Now you and I might stand up and talk till the crack of doom—if we could induce an audience to listen—concerning this subject and if the individual woman learns not how to buy, the talk would be in vain.

In buying meat keep in mind four things: the color, odor, grain and fat. The color of good beef is a healthy red. The grain is smooth with streaks of fat through it, white fat, not yellow and it should be almost odorless.

The market value of meat increases backward from the head, but decreases downward towards the feet. The finest cuts are therefore in the back upper part—ribs, loin, and rump. The forequarter has more bone than the hindquarter, consequently sells for less.

Near the neck are bones; in the legs are muscles, where the muscles are plenty the meat is apt to be tough, that is if it be not cooked properly. Such meat, boiled or roasted, is almost impossible to chew, as tough cross-grained meat needs slow cooking, something just below the boiling point, braising or pot-roasting.

The nearer you get to the hoof the better the meat you have, as the end of the shin are rich in meat. A good sirloin has two-thirds meat and one-third bone and fat. If your family is large purchase two bones at a buying, one heavy with meat, the other all bone and gristle. In this way you can have the meat for hash, stew or croquettes and the shins will provide several good meals in different forms, for the sum of fifty cents for the meat share, as you can purchase two good shin soup-bones for that amount.

Limited Temperance.

The first temperance society was formed in New-England and its pledge read: "We, the undersigned, believing in the evil effect of strong drink, do hereby pledge ourselves on our sacred honor that we will not get drunk more than four times a year—Master day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas."

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Oatmeal put to soak the night before only requires about one-half the time to cook.

In making tomato salad with gelatine and salad dressing, add a touch of smoked herring cut into very fine pieces and you will find the flavor of your salad very much improved.

Walnuts and olives chopped make a very fine filling for rye bread sandwiches when mixed with a little sour cream.

To cleanse sinks and drains, pour copious dissolved in boiling water through them.

THE TABLE.

Beaten Steak.—One and one-half pounds of round steak, one egg, bread crumbs, pepper and salt. Beat the steak with a meat pounder or with the edge of a cup. Season the bread crumbs and beat the egg. Dip the steak into the egg and into the bread crumbs. Heat one tablespoonful of lard and one of butter, turn in the steak and cook until well browned.

Cranberry Puffs.—Two cupfuls of cranberries, two cupfuls of flour, four tablespoonfuls of shortening, two eggs, one cupful of milk, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of salt. Rub the shortening finely into flour, add baking powder, salt, the milk gradually, eggs well beaten, and cranberries washed and dried. Pour into greased popover pans, cover and steam for one and a half hours.

Date Tarts.—Cut rounds of bread as for sandwiches. From half of these cut a small round from the center, leaving the other half whole. Butter each slice and spread the whole slices with a paste made by putting some dates and almonds through the meat chopper and mixing with lemon or orange juice. Place the other slices over these, butter side down, and press together. Put a teaspoonful of jelly or whipped cream in the small hole.

Almond Nougat.—Blanch and chop one pound of almonds, place them in the oven to get hot, do not allow to get brown. Boil together one and a half pounds of sugar with a squeeze of lemon juice and stir with a wooden spoon until it begins to melt; stir till it forms white bubbles on its surface, add heated almonds, stir till mixed, then turn out on oiled slab, press out with cut lemon, mark into squares, when cold break into pieces.

Plum Roll.—Sift half a pound of flour into a basin, rub four ounces of butter finely into it and one teaspoonful of baking powder, mix with cold water or milk, then roll out thin. Cover with peeled, halved and stoned ripe plums, sprinkle over with sugar, wet the edges and roll up. Place on a well-buttered tin, brush over with beaten egg and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.

Banana Sandwiches.—Peel and cut into thin slices three bananas, sprinkle over them two tablespoonfuls of maraschino syrup, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and a little sugar; let stay in this for one and a half hours. Spread bread with whipped cream, sweetened with strained honey and the prepared bananas on the top and cut into neat rounds.
